INTRODUCTION

I used to believe there was a moment that I would arrive. A version of myself that was fully healed, fully confident, and fully certain. I thought once I reached that place, the questions would stop, the struggle would quiet, and faith would feel effortless.

But life taught me something different that becoming is not a finish line, It is a daily decision.

There were seasons when growth felt slow, when obedience didn't produce immediate results and when trusting God required more surrender than certainty. I learned that becoming often looks like showing up tired, choosing faith anyway and learning to honor progress even when it doesn't feel impressive.

This book is not about perfection, it is about permission.

Permission to grow without rushing. Permission to heal without shame. Permission to trust that God works just as powerfully in the process as He does in the promise.

If you've ever felt behind, unfinished, or unsure of who you are becoming. This book is for you.

You are not late. You are simply becoming!

DEDICATION

This book is dedicated to every person who has felt unfinished, unseen, or unsure of who they are becoming. To the ones learning to trust God in the in-between. To those growing quietly, healing slowly, and choosing faith even when clarity is absent. May these pages remind you that you don't have to arrive to be worthy.

You are becoming and that is enough.

PART I

THE LIE OF ARRIVAL

CHAPTER 1

THE PRESSURE TO BE FINISHED

We live in a world that is so obsessed with arrival. Titles, milestones and visible success are celebrated, while the quiet work which is the internal shifts, the prayers no one hears, the faith practiced in the unseen is often overlooked.

The pressure to be finished can make growth feel exhausting. It tells you that if you are still learning, still healing, still becoming, then something must be wrong. Scripture reminds us:

> "For I know the plans I have for you," declares the Lord, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you a hope and a future"
>
> Jeremiah 29:11.

God's timing and not ours defines the process.

Becoming requires humility. It takes us to admit that we don't have
